

MEDIA RELEASE

Spitfire Corporation makes key appointments to its senior executive team

Sydney, 3 June 2019. Spitfire Corporation, the innovative technology company providing a contemporary total wealth and single ecosystem digital platform for financial services clients, has expanded its senior executive team appointing its inaugural Chief Executive Officer and a new Chief Product Officer.

In a move that signals Spitfire's substantial growth plans, Matthew Johnson has been appointed to the new role of CEO.

Matt's appointment follows the acquisition of Wealthtrac by Spitfire.

Since joining Wealthtrac in 2005, Matt has led the business through a period of rapid growth and development, significantly growing the national dealer network and establishing Wealthtrac as a major player in the platform space. The business has over A$2 billion in funds under management and in excess of 6000 adviser clients.

Graham Maloney, Chairman of Spitfire Corporation, said "We are very pleased to welcome Matt as Spitfire's CEO. It is a pivotal time for the company as we take our digital wealth platform to a broader market. Matt is an accomplished financial services executive with strong leadership skills and a successful track record of delivering significant growth in collaboration with clients."

In a further move to strengthen its senior executive team, Spitfire has appointed Anil Sagaram as its new Head of Product.

Anil has 20 years' experience across the wealth management industry, having worked with Morgan Stanley (UK), Macquarie Bank, GBST and most recently at BT Financial Group. At BT, Anil led the product development and design teams responsible for the development of BT Panorama's investment, managed accounts and superannuation capabilities.

Ends.

What you need to know about Spitfire Corporation

Spitfire Corporation is a relatively new firm, established in 2015, dedicated to transforming the technology solutions available to the financial services industry.

Spitfire's core solution is a total wealth and single ecosystem digital platform supporting clients to deliver a consolidated client wealth view of "any asset, in any market, at any time".

We will continually innovate.

Media Enquiries:
Christine Bowen
Principal Consultant
communicaterelate
P. +61 414 861 629
E. christine@communicaterelate.com.au